

CONTENTS: VIEWPOINT 29

The Information

Viewpoint's pick of graphics, technology, design and culture news

The Analysis

Viewpoint's in-depth look at the hot topic: celebrity

Look at me: just where does the interest in celebrity come from? By Professor Christopher Cook

Fame! (Abridged): we reduce celebrities to the simple codes that define them. Photography by Jenny van Sommers

No fame, no gain? What shape might celebrity take over the coming years? By Glyn Brown

The new VIPs (very important products): it's not just people who are celebrities now - even objects are famous. By Stuart Knott

Iconic: In the future, everything will be iconic for 15 minutes. Photography by Philip Meech

The Argument

Social commentators get opinionated about emerging trends

Majority report by Ed Booty

Generation why by Valerie Jacobs

The kids are all right by Joanna Feeley

What's your whuffie? by Tamar Kasriel

Shop tactics by Dan Bowers

The Vision

A visual essay of nine influential ideas in nine images. By FranklinTill

The Features

Focus on the new season's major issues

In the club: the return of ultra-luxe is about being an insider. By Matilda Battersby

Boys II Men: how the influences on male teens today might shape the man of tomorrow. By Mark Hooper

On the job: why new tech and business models are seeing the working world get a radical overhaul. By Gwyneth Holland

Amateur hour: could product design signal the death of the expert? By Duncan Graham-Rowe

Right here, right now; That's so last minute - into a world in which real time communication is paramount
By Anna Sanson

Under the influence: followers need leaders. But is the idea of the influencer really nonsense? By Martin Bewick

Colour and Material

Our look at the important new directions in material and colour thinking for all product areas

Where science meets plant-life is found a fresh take on colour and texture. By FranklinTill

The Portfolio

The creatives setting the aesthetic agenda

The Digest

Snapshots of some big ideas

Less is more by Tom Cheshire

Return to centre by Glyn Brown

The mild bunch by Nick Compton

Downmarkert dressed up by Matilda Battersby

Faster, higher, stronger? by Tom Cheshire

PC killed the TV star? by Boyd Farrow

Been there, seen that, bought the t-shirt by Ellie Hayes

The talking cure by Glyn Brown

With the ringtone, I thee wed by Gwyneth Holland

Arts and minds by Anna Sansom

The Form

Viewpoint's round-up of the current key design aesthetics